CURTAINS

Malcolm Gets and Sally Struthers star in this Broadway Whodunit!

June 22-27

Direct From Broadway! Get a glimpse backstage as Curtains — Broadway's Tony® Award-winning hit makes its Pittsburgh premiere! One of the last collaborations of the award-winning writing team that brought us Cabaret and Chicago, Curtains is a true Kander and Ebb masterpiece. This murderously funny musical takes you beyond the footlights and into the world of show business where anyone could be found guilty of trying to steal the spotlight!

PITTSBURGH PREMIERE!

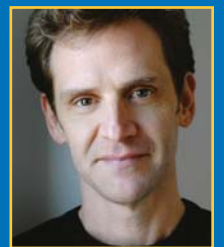

It's Boston, 1959, and the Colonial Theatre's newest musical could be a Broadway smash, were it not for the presence of its talent-free leading lady. But, when this hapless star dies during her opening night curtain call, the real show begins!

Malcolm Gets and Sally Struthers lend their talents to this big old-fashioned Tony® Award-winning musical. Best known as Richard on the television series "Caroline in the City," Mr. Gets is returning to the Benedum stage as stage-struck police detective Lt. Frank Cioffi.

After 23 previews, the Broadway production directed by Scott Ellis and choreographed by Pittsburgh CLO alumnus Rob Ashford, opened on March 22, 2007 at the Al Hirschfeld Theatre. The cast included Pittsburgh CLO alumni Karen Ziemba and Megan Sikora.

BNY MELLON

Malcolm Gets

Sally Struthers

He previously appeared in the Pittsburgh CLO productions of 1776 and Company. Sally Struthers, who boasts hundreds of television, film and theater credits, will star as the show's hard-bitten producer Carmen Bernstein. She most recently delighted CLO audiences with sidesplitting performances in The Full Monty and Annie.
